

Each student will need a notebook or composition book. Have your students choose a cover (included), color it in and stick it to the front of their notebook. Then each student makes a pocket using the template provided (to keep loose or unfinished pieces between sessions) and glues it inside the front cover of their notebook.

I suggest printing the pockets on cardstock and cutting them out for any of your students with motor difficulties as they are a little tricky. I have included a simpler pocket design if you prefer to use a different design however I like the blue one as it has a flap to keep the contents safe.

(The images shown are from my Articulation Notebooks, but I have included them so that you can see how the pockets go together).
