SPEECH THERAPY NOTEBOOKS

Dear Members,

At the beginning of the year I'm happy to extend a warm welcome to the Speech Therapy Notebooks Club for members new and old!

We have exciting updates and new materials that will be coming to you very soon.

In this edition of the magazine, we take you on a tour of all the materials available to you right now. We have included as many images as we could squeeze in, but it really only scratches the surface of everything that is available. Make it your New Year resolution this year to explore the Club website thoroughly and let me know your favorite Notebook resource!

#SLPMETIME

The new year is an exciting time. It's the time for a new outlook and a fresh start. It also provides you with the opportunity to recommit to your health and well-being.

This is especially important for busy SLPs who often times struggle to maintain a peaceful balance between work and home life.

Spending time with your family and friends, going the extra mile for a struggling student, keeping parents and administrators involved: sometimes it's easy to forget who makes the magic happen...YOU!

This year I'm not making a New Year's resolution, but rather I am making a couple of promises to myself.

I promise to be mindful of my health. My passion is helping others, but who can I help if I'm not taking care of myself?

I also pledge to let myself unwind. I'll try to remember that the world will not end if I take a break. Plus, taking a few minutes to breathe can save hours of frustration in the long run.

Finally I am going to adopt an "attitude of gratitude" by making time each day to reflect on all of the positive things in my life.

Rather than adding the stress of yet another failed resolution, I believe these simple "gifts" to myself can help me stay focused, inspired, and able to put my best self forward for my loved ones, colleagues, and my students.
