Dear Members,

Welcome to the May edition of the Notebooks magazine! The Summer countdown is well and truly on in many parts of the world. On my side of the Atlantic the weather has yet to warm up but we are hopeful!

Meanwhile there are IEP meetings to hold, reports to write and Summer programs to prepare... So this month in the Club, our focus is on low prep, easy therapy activities to get you through the day. To access the materials on the following pages, make sure you are logged into your account and then simply click each link to go directly to the activity!

This month we are also highlighting the range of no-prep Summer materials available to you inside the membership area. If you plan on sending Summer Packets home with your students this year, be sure to take a look!

SUMMER HOMEWORK PACKETS

Summer Homework Packets are the perfect way to keep your students working on their speech goals during Summer break.

The best part? No work for you! Simply print and send home!

Organize your packets using festive covers and parent letters to let caregivers know what is expected.

No Prep Summer Articulation Packets includes a word list, cards, and 6 fun activities that parents love to use with their children.

From simple labeling through to multiple meaning words, No Prep Language Worksheets are suitable for a wide range of students.

#SLPMETIME

As we move into that time of year when the “to do” list seems to stretch on forever, it is especially important to take the time to take care of yourself. The old adage about “apply your own oxygen mask first” stands true for SLPs in the month of May!

Some tasks are essential of course. Those legal deadlines need to be met, but be sure to balance that stress by going easy on yourself in other areas of life and work. Accept that there are not enough hours in the day. Push less important tasks aside in favor of getting out of work on time. You will be happy to get home to family...maybe you can even squeeze in an early evening walk!

Keep it simple. Go back to basics on meal prep and household chores. Lastly, don't worry. With Summer just around the corner there will be plenty of time to catch up!
