

synonym pairs

*Please note - this game is a variation of I have / who has ? However, the start and finish point has been left deliberately open ended so you can choose who starts. Also, you may find you need to remove a pair of cards from the game due to regional accent variation and so the game will still function in this case.

On the following pages you will find pairs of synonym cards. Separate them into single pictures and their matching text cards. Give one card to each child in the group, making sure that you give out both cards in the pair.

Divide the group into 2 halves and tell one half that they have the questions, and the others that they have the answers.

The student with "question" cards take turns to ask the group, "Who has a word that is a synonym of... (jump)?"

The students can then give each other a high five (or whatever "winning" signal you choose and return their cards to the teacher.

If playing with an individual student, you can vary the game slightly by playing yourself and holding the question cards while the student has the answers. You can then ask, "Do you have a word that is a synonym of... (jump)?"

Send the black & white version home for practice.

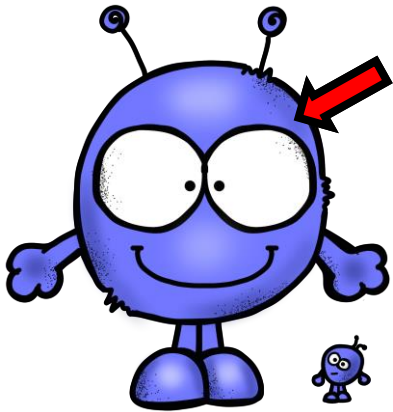

jump

leap

garbage

trash

big

large

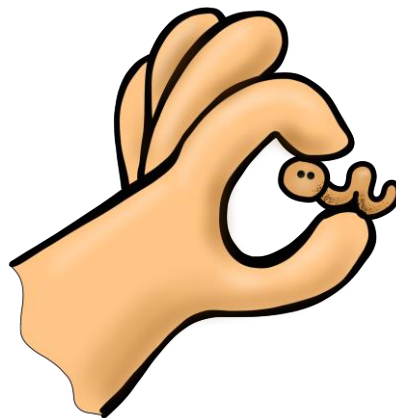

laugh

giggle

pretty

beautiful

small

tiny

present

gift

smell

shiff

bad

haughty

smelly

stinky

thin

slim

watch

look

difficult

hard

tired

sleepy

middle

center

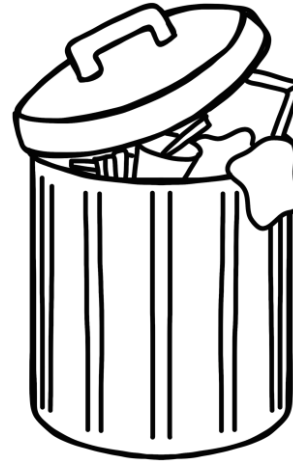

finish

end

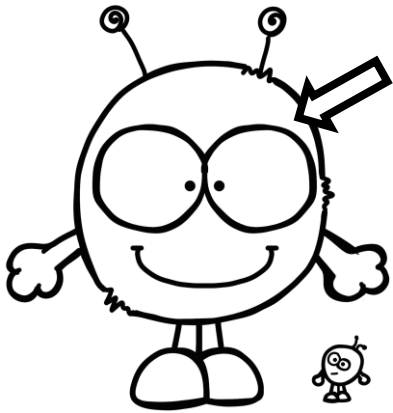

jump

leap

garbage

trash

big

large

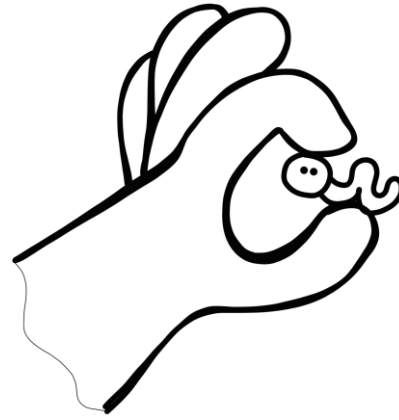

laugh

giggle

pretty

beautiful

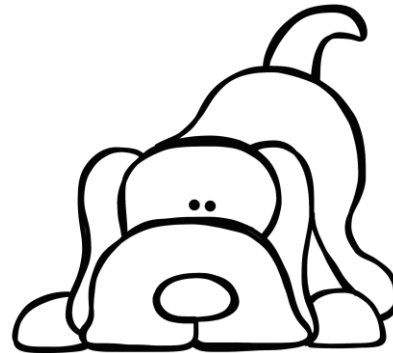

small

tiny

present

gift

smell

shiff

bad

haughty

smelly

stinky

thin

slim

watch

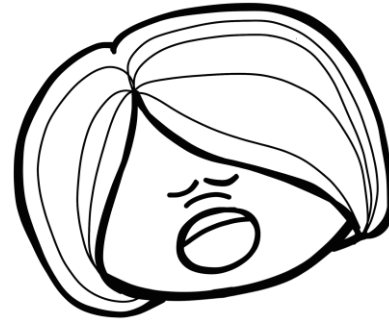

look

hard

difficult

tired

sleepy

center

middle

finish

end