

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Print and laminate the baseboard and characters. If you would like to use this as a cookie sheet activity, stick magnets to the back of the character pieces.
2. Choose the story at the appropriate level for your students. Read the story and act it out using the characters.
3. Have the students help you to retell the story, prompting them to say the target words (in bold in the story).
4. Make up the mini-book as per instructions. You can have students color their books as you repeat the therapy exercise with students individually and take data.
5. Send the mini-book and drill sheets home for practice. If you wish, you can print the black-line version of the baseboard and characters for each student also.

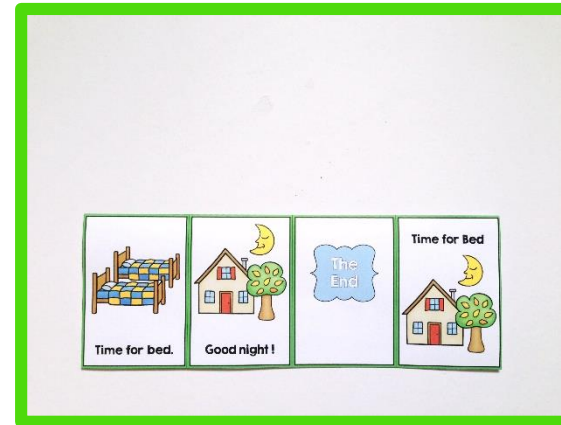

How To Make Your Mini-Books

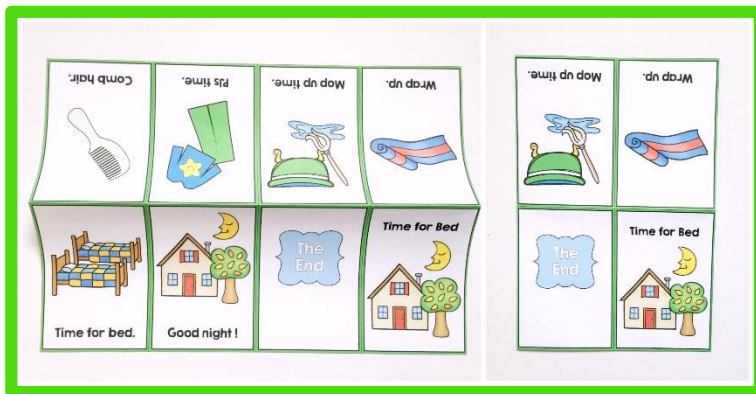

1. Cut along the outer edges of the mini-book.

2. Fold in half along the long edge.

3. Unfold and fold again along the short edge.

4. Unfold and make creases in the other two vertical edges.

How To Make Your Mini-Books

5. Cut a small slit in the middle of the page along the dotted line.

7. Push the ends in further until the pages create a plus sign.

6. Holding each end, push the pages together until you see a diamond shape opening through the slit.

8. Fold in half with the cover facing you and enjoy your mini-book!
