Introduction

This packet is aligned with Common Core State Standards Reading Foundation for Kindergarten 2 (CCSS RF 2) which states that students must;

Demonstrate understanding of spoken words, syllables and sounds (phonemes)

It provides activities to teach the second standard in the series.

2b) Count, pronounce, blend, and segment syllables in spoken words.

The range of activities included are suitable for teachers or Speech Language Pathologists. The variety of activities means you will find resources suitable for whole class teaching as well as individual work or centers.

The activities can be taught gradually over the school year alongside the other phonological awareness activities in standard CCSS RF 2.

They can also be worked through in a shorter, more intensive timeframe. This is particularly appropriate in a remedial situation with an older child who requires help to catch up with peers.
